Ite Missa Est Presents: Advent Discipleship Challenge—Week 1

On November 29 we end our Pilgrimage of Hope/Jubilee year. Yet here we are approaching a new liturgical year focusing on hope once again! Advent is naturally a season of hope and our anxious, cynical and cruel times particularly cry out for it. Hope isn't the same as positive thinking or regained optimism. Christian hope has nothing necessarily to do with everything going well. It has everything to do with surrender to God. As Benedict XVI wrote, "Only something infinite will sustain us."

Despair seems to have gained an upper hand these days. But Christian hope shines a light on despair and dissipates its shadows. With this in mind the next four weekly bulletin reflections, composed by fellow parishioners on readings of the day, offer practical ideas as we move through Advent in our quest for hope in the one for whom we wait—Christ Jesus.

Sunday, November 30 — First Sunday of Advent (Is 2:1-5, Ps 122:1-9, Rom 13:11-14, Matt 24:37-44) The one who has hope lives differently (John Paul II). Swords and spears or plowshares and pruning hooks (Is 2:4)? The Master who comes like a thief in the night (Mt 24:42)? Clothing ourselves with the armor of light (Rom 11:12)? Today's Advent scripture images hope for the transformative power of God. The start of this season concerns not only the Christ who came but the one who is to come. Ponder what has happened in your life that has been least expected so as to live as if Christ were returning tomorrow.

Monday, December 1 (Is 4:2-6, Ps 122: 1-9, Matt 8:5-11)

Today the centurion did not care about the barriers of rank or race; he knew that the one he loved needed him and that was enough. Not many people could amaze Jesus, but this foreigner does. With the centurion, let us pray the words we profess at Mass, "Sir, I am not worthy that YOU should enter under my roof, only say the WORD and my servant (Mt 8:8), my soul, my mother, my brother, my sister, my friend... will be healed." Isaiah promises that the LORD will give us shelter and protection (Is 4:6). Who do I want to intercede for today?

Tuesday, December 2 (Is 11:1-10; Ps 72:1-2, 7-8, 12-13, 17; Luke 10:21-24) Today's readings are a reminder that God desires to pour out the Holy Spirit to bring hope to this troubled world. The gifts of the Spirit are listed in the first reading from Isaiah—wisdom, understanding, counsel, fortitude, fear of the LORD, knowledge, piety (Is 11:2), and Jesus rejoices that these gifts are freely given to all those who seek to follow him. Take time today to pray the Prayer to the Holy Spirit asking God to allow the Spirit to guide you in all that you think, do and say.

Wednesday, December 3 — Saint Francis Xavier (Is 25:6-10a, Ps 23:1-6, Matt 15:29-37)

Our readings speak of the end time banquet—God's everlasting provision for God's own (Is 25:6). This will come to its totality in the end times, the focus of the first week of Advent, the "already" but the "not yet." As we are currently in the "not yet," how might we reach out in ways so as to assure others hopefully in the "already?" Who will we encounter today who needs a hopeful touch, as simple as a kind smile or a word of encouragement? Pray for the intercession of St. Francis Xavier, a true man of hope, to that end.

Thursday, December 4 (Is 26:1-6; Ps 118: 1, 8-9, 19-21, 25-27a; Matt 7:21, 24-27)

Each of us is created for a purpose, which is often difficult to discern—it's not like God shoots us a text or an e-mail. It's in deepening our relationship with Christ that we begin to understand what we may be called to do. This can be hard, especially if we allow our "success" to be measured by the world's standards. So today, let us be like the wise man who built his house on rock (Mt 7:24-27)—to hear the word of God and do it. This requires us to "trust in the LORD always" (Is 26:4). Choose a word or a phrase from today's readings and contemplate it throughout the day.

Friday, December 5 (Is 29:17-24; Ps 27: 1, 4, 13-14; Matt 9:27-31)

Isaiah's message of the end times reassures us that the meek will exult and gloom and darkness will be no more—despair is banished forever (Is 29:18-19). Like the two blind men who beg for divine intervention (Mt 9:27-30), on this eve of Saint Nicholas, let us likewise cry out. Through the saint of generosity, symbolically leave your spiritual shoes out tonight to be filled by Nicholas with the reassuring hope we so desperately need. St. Nicholas of Myra, pray for us.

Saturday, December 6 — Saint Nicholas (Is 30:19-21, 23-26; Ps 147:1-6; Matt 9:35–10:1, 5a, 6-8) Isaiah and Matthew remind us of God's compassion and desire to heal. Isaiah tells us that God promises guidance, restoration and abundance, even in hardship. His mercy never fails (Is 30:19). Our gospel depicts Jesus on a mission of mercy as he heals the sick and sends out his disciples to do the same (Mt 9:36). Today, as we remember St. Nicholas, set out to bring mercy and kindness into your daily routine. Offer a smile to one who is down. Help a coworker or a classmate without being asked. Reach out to a friend in need of a listening ear.

NEWS & OPPORTUNITIES

Confirmation Service Project

The Confirmation Service Project brought students from all of the Bread of Life parishes together on November 8 to make bagged lunches to serve the hungry at St. Vincent de Paul. They put together 243 lunches and an additional 27 sandwiches. Students (and Fr. Len) decorated each lunch bag with an inspirational Bible passage to give hope. Representatives of Holy Angels St. Vincent de Paul Conference showed the students the pantry at Holy Angels, explained their services, and talked about how serving the poor has strengthened their faith lives. Students also learned about food insecurity and how to make recipes for their families using food items from a food pantry.

Lessons and Carols

St. Mary Sunday, December 21st, at 4:00 pm.

The St. Mary Choir, directed by Jeff Hecht, will present "Lessons and Carols." The Festival of Lessons and Carols is a service of Scripture and song that dates to the late 19th century. During the service, attendees hear nine scripture lessons, stories, and plenty of choral music—sung by both the choir and the congregation. There's no better way to experience the wonder of Christmas at St. Mary Church in Dayton, which boasts the largest creche, candles, poinsettias, a beautifully decorated marble altar, and music from the 1920 Austin organ, expertly played by Jeff Hecht in this 1906 space designed for excellent music acoustics. Bring your friends and family, and follow the star in the East to St. Mary Church in Dayton to begin your Christmas week.
